Commissioner's Foreword

I was sworn into office as the 9th Commissioner of Police on July 22, 2022, and I am incredibly pleased to present the Royal Bahamas Police Force's 2022 Annual Report. This report provides an overview of the state of crime in our communities and highlights the efforts of our organization in preventing and responding to criminal activities.

In 2022, the men and women of this organization exceeded expectations in their deepening efforts to protect life and safeguard property in the Bahamas, and I am deeply humbled by the opportunity to lead them. I have spent my entire professional life in law enforcement, and I too know firsthand the innumerable sacrifices and consistent dedication that our officers and staff bring to their work each day. Therefore, whether making a difference on the frontline or in the background, I am forever grateful for their unwavering support and the high level of commitment and integrity with which they serve their country.

The efforts of police officers continue to be pushed to unprecedented bounds owing to an increasingly complex and evolving landscape of crime that is reshaping policing as we know it. Notwithstanding, we have been able to employ a range of initiatives and resources to confront these new-age threats and challenges, head-on with persistence and provide the highest level of safety and security for our communities. As with all efforts against crime, it requires a consolidated approach inclusive of community-oriented policing strategies that prioritize relationship building, problem solving, and prevention. It is through these relationships that we can rebuild and maintain public trust and confidence.

During the year, the organization expanded its involvement with community groups and other stakeholders. We collaborated extensively with local businesses, faith-based organizations, and other community groups to identify potential problem areas, devise solutions to those issues, and thwart criminal activity before it ever took place. This involved leveraging the latest technologies and strategies to enhance our capabilities, improve our operations, and increase our efficiency. In addition, we were able to develop targeted prevention programs and interventions, as well as partnering with residents to improve neighborhood safety through walkabouts and door-to-door visits; we disseminated safety tips via flyers, posters, brochures, and our website. There were daily patrols in communities throughout the Bahamas, ensuring that the law was maintained.

On November 16, 2022, the first senior commanders' conclave was convened over 3 days. The objective was to share knowledge and expertise, exchange best practices, and explore new ideas and approaches for reducing crime rates and increasing public safety. A wide range of topics related to crime prevention strategies and leadership were discussed, including intelligence-led policing, crime analysis, community-oriented policing, saturation patrols, and leadership assessment. Overall, the event was a great success, providing valuable insights and innovative solutions for the organization to explore as we continue our efforts to combat crime and create a safer and more resilient community that is less susceptible to criminal activity.

Furthermore, we had a significant amount of success in our efforts to prevent and counter acts of violent and property crime. Our country has experienced an uptick in the number of homicides, which has increased the fear of crime. However, we continue to make great headway in decreasing the overall incidence of violent crime and the fear of crime by highlighting findings from our research and intelligence which indicate that tourists, visitors, and everyday citizens are not the targets of murder incidents or random acts of violent crime, but rather, it is more often than not an isolated incident stemming from a crime of opportunity that escalated in the wrong direction. Nonetheless, we are placing a stronger emphasis on predictive policing tactics, community collaboration, modern technology, and saturation patrols to assist us in anticipating potential criminal acts and preventing them before they occur.

The organization has taken actionable steps to stay ahead of the curve on crime and to equip its officers with cutting-edge investigative tools to become more efficient and effective in the execution of their duties. This is an investment that is expected to offer continued dividends as all officers acclimate to this new environment. In 2022, the Force was allocated a budget of $114,978,921 which was spent efficiently to police The Bahamas. We have invested more than $500,000 on the upkeep of our present fleet of vehicles, aircraft, marine resources, stations, and other work spaces so that we may continue to operate in accordance with the requirements of the Health and Safety at Work Act.

We recognize the value that training offers to an organization and the need to continually reinforce the skills and knowledge necessary for police officers to execute their obligations. Accordingly, we continued to invest in our human resources by focusing on both external and internal training for our officers and other law enforcement counterparts, including facilitating the training of 973 law enforcement officers across multiple disciplines to improve internal service delivery and community relations. The training included 12 defense force officers, 266 immigration officers, 100 prison officers, and 89 security officers. In our efforts to strengthen relations between the police and the community, we intend to incorporate training that includes education on cultural awareness and mental health. Officers need to be aware of the cultural diversity in our communities and how to engage with it appropriately. Similarly, officers can benefit from training on knowing the signs of mental health and how to respond appropriately, including knowing when to call a mental health professional as we are often the first responders to a scene. In addition, we intend to regularly assess the effectiveness of our training programs to identify areas where improvements can be made.

I am a firm believer that excellence should be at the heart of our organizational productivity. We must maintain our commitment to excellence in all that we do, from recruiting and training, to our day-to-day operations. This means attracting and retaining the best talent and ensuring that our officers have the support and resources they need to do their jobs safely and effectively. To ensure that this organization has the most qualified, diverse, and well-staffed workforce, we have become more stringent with our vetting process. To that end, we have held several recruitment exercises for the year and graduated 219 officers. However, I have made it possible for applicants with good character, a commitment to their community, and who were unsuccessful in passing the entrance exams to be accepted into our Law Enforcement Empowerment and Preparedness Program (LEEAP). This program was established to work closely with these individuals via tutors and special training. This is designed to give these individuals a fighting chance at a noble career in either of the law enforcement agencies in the Bahamas.

Technology has revolutionized law enforcement in recent years, providing new tools and capabilities for preventing and investigating crime. In our ongoing efforts to avert crime, we were able to take advantage of modern technology, including Geographic Information Systems crime mapping software, Marco's Alert Digital Billboards, Drone Technology, ShotSpotter, and Body Worn Cameras. These technologies continue to provide us with assistance in reducing the overall crime rate. We have also utilized technology to increase communication and collaboration between law enforcement agencies and the community. We are active on social media platforms to spread information about crime and preventive methods, as well as to elicit comments and input from community members.

Section 4 of the Police Force Act of 2009, outlines the Commissioner's mandate for the force. The plan provides a framework for directing and governing the efforts of police officers in executing the 9 areas of priority as outlined in the Commissioner's 2022 Policing Plan. The 9 priorities underpin the strategic approach to preventing and detecting crime, including objectives and other factors impacting crime. The following is a list of the 9 key areas included in the Commissioner's 2022 Police Plan:

1. Transformational Training
2. Transformative Human Rights Standards Recognition and Implementation
3. Transformative Community Policing Services
4. Criminal Investigations, Intelligence and Prosecution
5. Heightened Police Operations
6. Transformational Information and Communications Technology
7. Public Road Safety
8. Protection of At Risk Groups
9. Youth Engagement

Each of the 9 objectives was used to drive the operations and overall performance of the organization's impact on crime. As a result of our efforts, those of other law enforcement agencies, and public support, we saw an overall reduction in serious crime. Preliminary figures for 2022 indicate that major crimes decreased by 2% with 3,979 cases, compared to 4,081 in 2021. There were regional decreases in Grand Bahama and the Northern Bahamas and the Family Islands District at rates of 19% and 3% respectively, compared to 2021. The rate of crime in New Providence remains unchanged when compared to 2021.

In 2022, the police arrested a total of 14,161 persons for various major to minor offenses throughout the Commonwealth of the Bahamas. Of this number 9,918 persons were charged and placed before the Court. This figure represents an overall 70% detection rate for major and minor crimes. There were 3,735 court returns from the Magistrates Court including 2,094 convictions, 9 cases were discharged due to the defendant's death, 129 cases were acquitted at the end of trial, 1,073 cases were discharged by the court and 430 cases were withdrawn by the virtual complainant.

The Force's remarkable success may be attributed to a number of factors, one of which being strict adherence to the Commissioner's Policing Plan for 2022. As a consequence, we were able to effectively implement a plan for crime prevention by keeping order across the Commonwealth, with an increased police presence. This required us to take strategic and bold moves in the fight against crime, including establishing Operation CEASEFIRE. The unit's mandate includes:

- Flooding our streets with saturated patrols, particularly in hotspot areas;
- Targeting and disrupting prolific gang members;
- Targeting and disrupting prolific drug peddlers within communities;
- Tracking down wanted suspects for serious crimes and hauling them before court; and
- Engaging in intelligence-led operations using on the ground optics as well as state of the art technology.

It is my hope to have all police divisions, including Operation CEASEFIRE, lead this charge in ensuring that we narrow in on major and minor offenses to impede the escalation of more serious crimes. This will include saturation police patrols, particularly in hotspot areas, and targeting prolific criminals, including drug peddlers and repeat offenders. Our objective is to reduce the overall crime rate, have a heightened police presence in our communities, and decrease criminal activities.

Additionally, we executed 663 search warrants and detained numerous persons on outstanding warrants of arrest. We conducted 1,110 road checks and engaged in 1,631 aggressive stop and search tactics to remove illegal firearms and dangerous drugs from the streets of The Bahamas. Notably, we seized 370 illegal firearms, 5,506 rounds of ammunition and charged 300 persons for possession of illegal firearms. We seized 9,659.86 pounds of marijuana, 45,349 marijuana plants, and 1,137.10 pounds of cocaine. As a result, we arrested 1,336 suspects and charged 1,061 persons for possession of dangerous drugs.

We intercepted thousands of vehicles for violating traffic regulations and issued citations to the drivers of those vehicles. We used speed guns to monitor our roadways, clamp down on reckless drivers, and encourage drivers to observe safe driving practices and improve road safety. We issued 23,815 fixed-penalty notices and investigated 10,586 road accident reports. This represents an 11% increase over 2021, when 9,528 reports were investigated.

The Force recognizes that the impact of crime is not limited to the victim; it can also have an impact on their family, friends, and the wider community. Hence, we continue to demonstrate compassion to victims of serious crimes and their families. To that end, we conducted 33 family meetings, 70 follow-up telephone calls, and 10 agency referrals for counseling. We collaborated with other law enforcement agencies and ran joint operations with the Defense Force, the Bahamas Department of Immigration, and the Bahamas Customs Department in addressing the overall fight against crime. I am grateful to the leaders and teams of each of these organizations for their ongoing collaboration and assistance.

As a result of the growing number of incidents of domestic violence that police officers are being called to, we have made the decision to educate the force on the subject of domestic violence and establish a Domestic Violence Unit. This is to ensure that our perspectives, attitudes, and actions are standardized when serving as mediators. In addition to this, we continue to build on our partnerships with the Department of Social Services, the Community Counseling and Assessment Center, the Department of Gender and Family Affairs, and our worldwide affiliates on women's issues. Our Urban Renewal Divisions, along with the National Crime Prevention Office and the Neighborhood Watch Council, have been working together to make this a reality by educating the general public on topics such as tactics for preventing crime, domestic violence, and road safety.

As of the 31st of December 2022, the total strength of the Force consisted of 2690 sworn police officers in addition to 958 police reserves. A number of circumstances, including attrition, led to the departure of 129 policemen from the police force in the year 2022. Despite this, the Force anticipates that recruiting exercises will be carried out in 2023 in order to build up the Force's strength.

Notwithstanding the organization's gains throughout the year, it continues to struggle with productivity losses as a result of sick reports and four hours of sedentary work each day. Throughout the course of the year, the organization incurred losses of an estimated $64m due to sick reports and $194k as a result of employees doing 4 hours of sedentary work.

Recognizing the challenges we faced over the past year, I am proud of what we have accomplished together. We have made significant progress in preventing and responding to crime, building stronger relationships with the community, and investing in new technologies and strategies to strengthen our operations. Yet there is still much work to be done. As we look ahead to the future, we must remain vigilant and committed to our mission of protecting and serving the people of our community. We must continue to build and strengthen our partnerships with community organizations, local businesses, and other stakeholders to identify and address the root causes of crime. We must keep pushing the boundaries of innovation and exploring new approaches to policing. This means deepening our investments in new technologies and ongoing training and development for our officers so that they are armed with the skills and knowledge needed to handle the complex and challenging situations they may face. But perhaps most importantly, we must never lose sight of our guiding ideals and principles. As police officers, we are entrusted with a sacred duty to protect and serve our community, to uphold the rule of law, and to safeguard the rights and dignity of every individual. We must always remain true to these values, even in the face of adversity and uncertainty.

In light of this, The Royal Bahamas Police Force will remain laser-focused on crime. Criminal behavior not only threatens the safety and security of our community but also undermines the very fabric of our society. We will continue to place all of our efforts into investigating crimes, identifying suspects, and prosecuting them to the fullest extent of the law. We will employ innovative techniques and cutting-edge technology to track down criminals and hold them accountable for their actions. Under no circumstances will we be deterred or intimidated by criminal activity. We will not allow criminals to undermine our mission or disrupt the lives of law-abiding citizens. We will work relentlessly to ensure that our communities are safe and secure and that criminals are held accountable for their actions.

1st Senior Commanders Conclave

The Commissioner of Police, Clayton Fernander, convened the organization's 1st Senior Commanders Conclave at Super Club Breezes, under the theme "Improving Internal Processes to Impact Crime through Crime Prevention." The objectives of the conclave were to strengthen internal procedures at the division level, identify and address challenges, make improvements as needed, standardize processes throughout divisions, and assure a higher degree of responsibility, accountability, and structure.

The opening ceremony was held on Wednesday, November 16, 2022. The Minister of National Security, the Hon. Wayne Munroe, KC, along with other law enforcement officials were in attendance, including Mrs. Sheryl Darville, Permanent Secretary in the Ministry of National Security; Dr. Raymond King, Commodore, Royal Bahamas Defence Force; Mr. Ralph Munroe, Acting Comptroller Bahamas Customs; Ms. Bernadette Murray, Deputy Commissioner, Bahamas Department of Corrections; and Mr. Dwight Beneby, Director, Bahamas Immigration.

Remarks were given by the Commissioner of Police, who deemed the event 'a meeting of the minds'. He told the officers that this event will afford them the opportunity to exchange ideas, build partnerships, and collaborate on strategies to enhance public safety and improve the relationship between the police and the community. In addition, he commented on current trends in stolen vehicles, the improvement of bail management and expeditious criminal prosecutions, the implementation of a firearms task force, and the way forward for 2023.

The Minister of National Security delivered closing remarks in which he echoed the sentiments of the Commissioner and thanked him for his innovative approach to crime prevention, including the creation of the Law Enforcement and Preparedness Program, the Students Together Against Negative Detections Program, the Second Chance Program, the School-Based Policing Program, and the Just Adolescent Membership Program.

During the 3-day event, a wide range of topics related to crime prevention strategies and leadership were discussed, including the state of crime, intelligence-led policing, crime analysis, community-oriented policing, saturation patrols, and leadership assessment. Speakers included the Commissioner of Police, Superintendent Ricardo Adderley, Inspector Germaine Pratt, retired Assistant Commissioner of Police, Bishop Hulan Hanna, Reverend Terrence Morrison, Financial Officer Michael Russell, and Ms. Nichole Watson, Human Resources Manager. The delegates were divided into groups to focus on crime concerns, why these issues continue, and how to remedy them. The event generated a number of inventive suggestions that police see as possible models for combating crime.

Some of the most promising ideas proposed at the event included using community-led patrols to increase visibility in high-crime areas, continuing to use technology-driven crime prevention measures, including CCTV and GIS, establishing a skills bank to identify qualified candidates for specific training courses, and advocating for restorative justice programs in collaboration with stakeholders such as prosecutors, judges, and community organizations.

Overall, the event was a great success, providing valuable insights and innovative solutions for the organization to explore as we continue our efforts to combat crime and create a safer and more resilient community that is less susceptible to criminal activity.
